

Blue Snow and Red Trees!

Fern Coppedge loved to use colors that were bold. When you look at a painting by Coppedge, sometimes you can find purple mountains, bright red and yellow houses and blues and purples in her snow!

Coppedge especially loved snowy landscapes. What can you find in this landscape?

Imagine you are in this painting, walking on the road to Pipersville. Where have you come from? Who will you see? What do you see along the road to your destination? Write a descriptive paragraph.

What season is it? If you were a weather reporter, what would you tell people about the weather conditions? What would they need to wear?

On another sheet of paper, create your own snowy landscape using colors Coppedge may have used! No rules apply!

Image Credits: Fern I. Coppedge (1883-1951), Back Road to Pipersville, n.d., oil on canvas, 38 x 40 in., James A. Michener Art Museum, Gift of Robert J. Lillie

A
C
T
I
V
I
T
Y

S
H
E
E
T

EXPLORE THROUGH THE ART DOOR

JAMES A.
MICHENER
ART MUSEUM